Dear Friends:

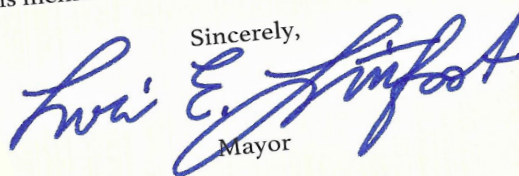

On behalf of the City of Chicago, I am honored to welcome all those gathered for the Fernando Jones' 13th Annual Summer Blues Camp for Youth.

Founded in 1989 by Fernando Jones, Blues Kids America works to preserve, perform, and promote the art of Blues. In 2010, Jones launched Blues Camp with the goal of preserving the history of blues by passing the art along to the next generation through education, performance opportunities, and mentorships. Through their work, Blues Kids America is contributing to the future of the Blues while preserving its important past.

This year's Blues Camp will bring together young people from around the world between the ages of 12 and 18 to learn from and perform with world renowned instructors. Through exciting classes and workshops, students will learn the social and historic importance of the Blues, the importance of critical thinking and collaboration, learn to read music, improvise, and play by ear, and learn to perform with confidence. The camp ends with a live stage performance by the Blues Kids for friends, family, and the general public. I hope this year's camp attendees have a fun and informative summer and I commend Fernando Jones and the Blues Kids Foundation for their ongoing commitment to young musicians and the Blues.

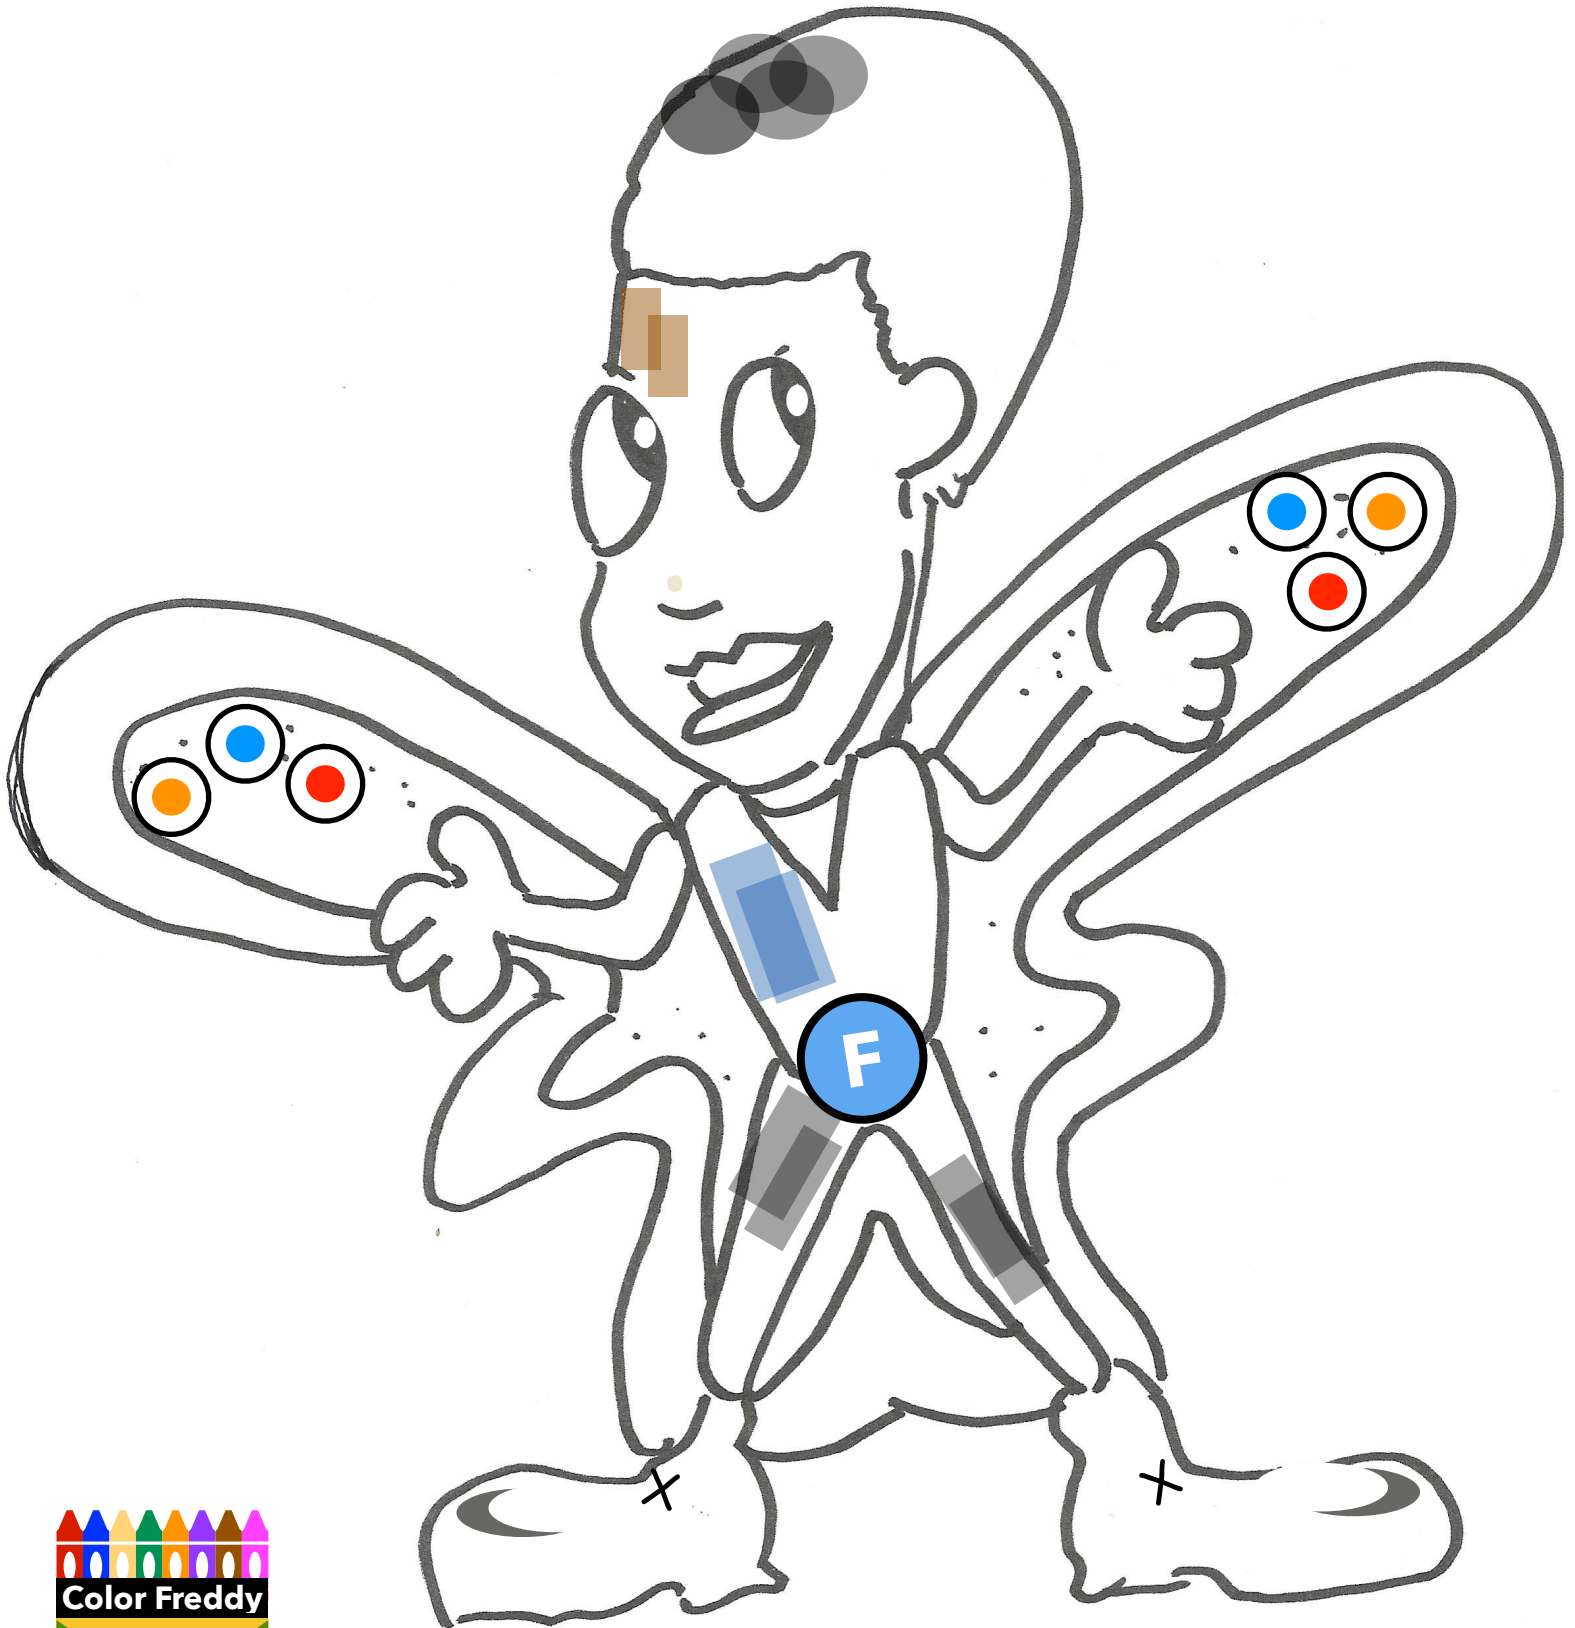

I hope your event is memorable and enjoyable. Best wishes for continued success.

Sincerely,

Mayor

FREDDY BUTTERFLY

By Fernando Jones

I've got a caterpillar
And his name is Freddy.

FREDDY!

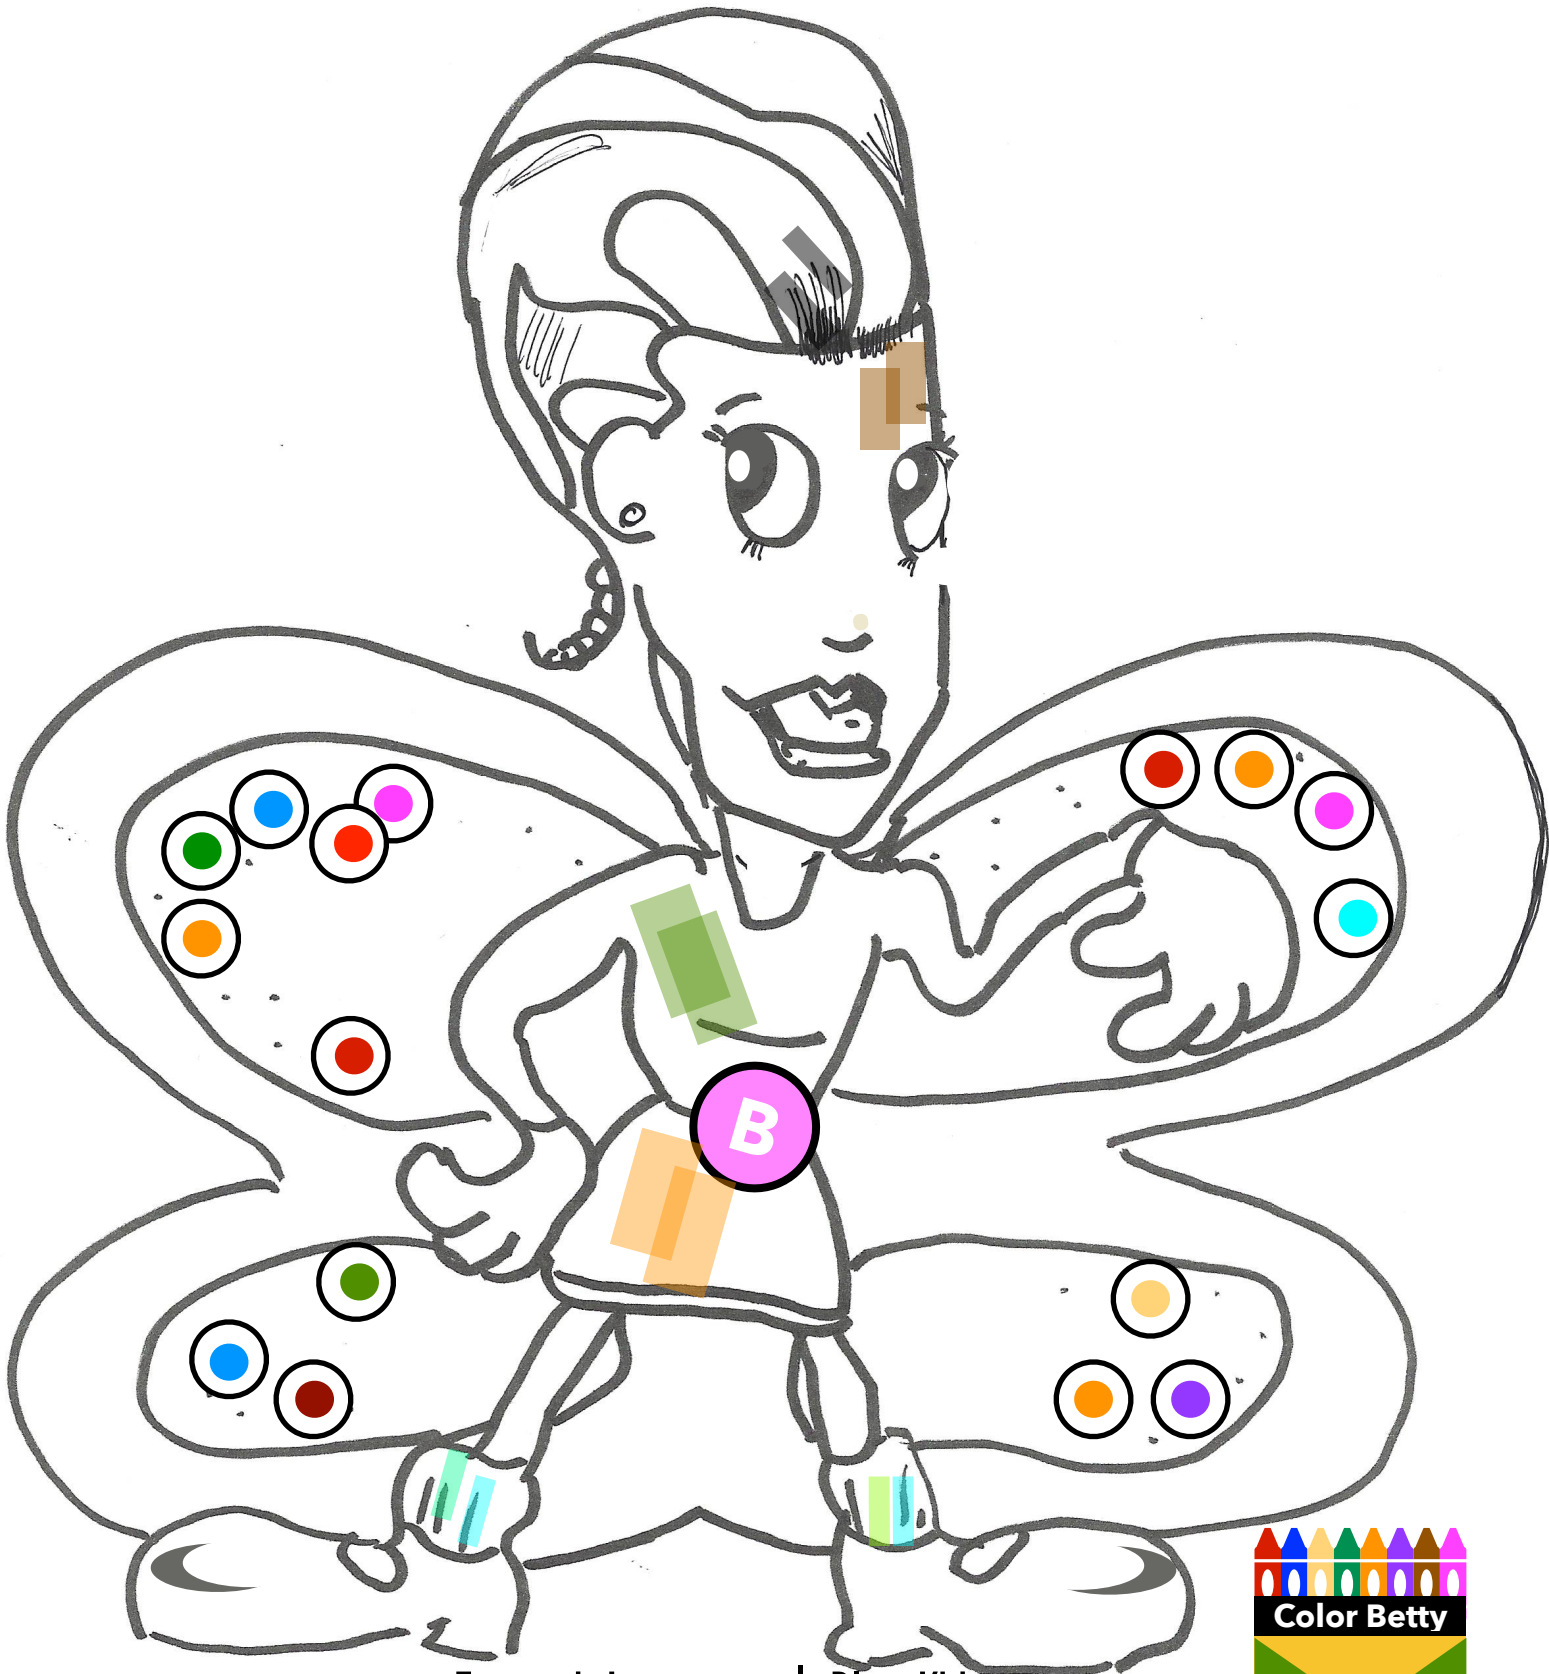

And he'll turn into a butterfly
When he gets ready.

READY!

And he will fly.
And he will fly.
And he will fly.

BETTY BUTTERFLY

I've got a caterpillar
And her name is Betty.

BETTY!

And she'll turn into a butterfly
When she gets ready.

BETTY

And she will fly.
And she will fly.
And she will fly.

Draw yourself as a butterfly.
